Meetings on the Gorge: Reconnecting with Co-Workers at the Newest National Park

FAYETTEVILLE, W. Va., Jan. 12, 2021 - With the nation's newest national park providing a stunning backdrop, meetings at Adventures on the Gorge (AOTG) provide a full range of services and plenty of indoor and outdoor spaces for participants to gather and enjoy the return of face-to-face time with colleagues.

The Lookout Post is AOTG's woodsy and rustic small-group conference center overlooking the New River Gorge - soon to be known as the New River Gorge National Park & Preserve. Located in Southern West Virginia, the venue offers the perfect combination of meeting space and after-meeting activities for planners looking for opportunities to balance work and play.

The region is famous for its whitewater rafting.

“We can say with authority that a trip down the river or ziplining through the woods will enhance working relationships and make meetings more productive,” said Roger Wilson, CEO of Adventures on the Gorge. “We expect others will agree as we are already seeing an uptick in inquiries for spring and summer meetings.”

AOTG offers these meeting specials and options:

- Employee Incentive Programs - AOTG can design an “Employee Discount Incentive Program” with custom code to providing savings on in-house adventure activities.
- Triple Play Passes - Meeting groups can choose three activity adventures (one from land, one from air, and one from water) for one low price and allow participants to use the passes at their leisure. Choices based on availability. Advanced reservations required as well as group size minimums.
- Midweek meeting discounts - By avoiding the weekend crowds, groups can meet on a Sunday, Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday and receive additional savings on both lodging rates and meeting space rentals.
- By booking an off-season meeting November 1 through April 30, groups will enjoy reduced pricing, including lodging discounts up to 50 percent off.

The Lookout Post’s space is combined with the company’s Smokey’s Cast Iron Grill, swimming pool and various decks to create an overall venue with more than 5,000 square feet of multi-use space. Construction is also underway on a rim-view pavilion for outdoor dining. The conference center itself provides an intimate and integrated meeting venue featuring up to five meeting rooms with flexible design to accommodate a maximum of 200 people theater style.

The meeting center features stone, wood and other local materials as well as large windows and accordion-style glass doors to allow for unrestricted views of the new park and the New River Gorge Bridge - the longest steel arch bridge in the U.S. and one of the most recognizable architectural attractions in the region.

The center’s meeting rooms are named in honor of famous pathfinders whose impacts were profound in uniquely different ways. They were pioneers of the region and of the country, preserving the country’s natural treasures and culture - naturalist John Muir, first director of the National Park Service Stephen Mather, frontiersman Simon Kenton, Shawnee chief Tecumseh and early settler Mary Draper Ingles.

Adjacent to the conference center, Smokey’s offers seamless service to groups and individual guests. Next door is the resort’s Chetty’s Pub featuring more selections as well as a relaxed gathering space. A private lunch kitchen provides remotely served adventure meals.

Adventures on the Gorge features an array of accommodations and restaurants as well as numerous adventure experiences including whitewater rafting on two of the country’s most spectacular rivers, zip lining, an aerial adventure park, Bridge Walk, kayaking, mountain biking, stand up paddleboarding hiking, caving and rock climbing. The resort also features a variety of retail clothing, gift and gear shops.
